

Patrick M. Dembach

Objective: Instructor of English, Literature, and German at a community college or four-year liberal arts college.

Education: M.A. Texas State University
Concentrations: Literature (British and Literature of the American West)
German and Linguistics

B.A. Angelo State University
Concentrations: English, Literature, Education, German

Texas Teacher Certification
Certification fields: English, German

Pedagogical experience:

Instructor, Cisco College, 1994 – Present

Courses: English 1301 – Composition and Rhetoric
Fundamental rhetorical strategies for successful writing, critical thinking, research methodology and research paper, introduction to literary analysis.

English 1302 – Composition and Rhetoric
Continuation of principles covered in English 1301.
Concentration expanded to include applying principles of literary analysis to many literary genres, including visual arts of film and stage.

English 2322 – Readings in British Literature
Analysis of selected readings from significant works of British literature from the Anglo-Saxon period through the eighteenth century. Includes discussion of historical contexts, movements, and periods. Critical analyses required.

English 2323 – Readings in British Literature
Analysis of selected readings from significant works of British literature from the eighteenth century to present.
Includes discussion of historical contexts, movements, and periods. Critical analyses required.

English 2326 – Readings in American Literature
A survey of selected American writers and significant works of American Literature from the pre-revolutionary era through the late 1800s. Research or critical analyses required.

German 1411 & 1412 – Beginning German
A careful study of German grammar; practice in hearing, speaking, and reading. A survey of social and cultural practices is included.

Skills and Qualifications:

Native bi-lingual (English, German)
Extensive cultural immersion
Formal pedagogical training
Computer skills: Excel, Word, WebCt, Blackboard, Publisher,
Business proprietary software

Business experience:

Broad-based management expertise in the following venues:
Banking - Cashier
Corporate - Business and Credit Management
Non-Profit – 501-C-3 Business Management

References:

Excellent references upon request