

717 E. Industrial Blvd.
Abilene, Texas 79602
Tel. 325.794.4400

101 College Heights
Cisco, Texas 76437
Tel. 254.442.5000

Name: Kelly McMichael

Title: Adjunct Faculty

Education:

Ph.D. in U. S. History, University of North Texas, August 2001
Dissertation: "From Lost Cause to Female Empowerment: The Texas Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, 1896-1966."

M.A. in American Studies/History, Baylor University, May 1994
Thesis: "The Emerging Woman: A Study of Ella Virginia West Carrington Leberman, 1886-1968."

B.A. in U.S. History, Texas A&M University, December 1990

Additional Coursework (if applicable):

18 hours, MS Psychology, American Public University
Click here to enter text.

Teaching Experience: (please include Cisco College as current employer)

School Name: Cisco College
City, State: Cisco, TX
Courses taught: HIST1301/HIST1302
Beginning and End Dates of employment: 2018-present

School Name: American Public University
City, State: Charles Town, West Virginia
Courses taught: History, BA and MA courses
Beginning and End Dates of employment 2009-present

Honors and Awards:

- Blended Learning Project Grant, Center for Distributed Learning, University of North Texas, for the development, implementation, and delivery of a model blended course, 2004-2005, conducting an experimental study of best teaching practices. • Fred White Jr. Fellowship, Texas State Historical Association, 2000 • Hatton W. Sumner Foundation Scholarship, 1999-2000 • Faculty Endowment Scholarship, 1997-1998

Professional Development:

Click here to enter text.

Professional Memberships:

- American Historical Association • Organization of American Historians•
Southern Historical Association• Southern Association of Women's Historians•
Western Association of Women's Historians • Texas State Historical Association•
Coordinating Council for Women in History

Date submitted: Click here to enter a date.